WASTELANDERS

The Wastelanders Art Collective, founded in 2007, is a vital part of the fabric of Paducah's creative art community. The collective has maintained members from in and around the Jackson Purchase Western Kentucky region as well as Southern Illinois.

Presently, the group is comprised of 10 exhibiting members with a diversity of mediums and varying approaches to their craft.

For the last 16 years the Wastelanders have exhibited two large shows a year that coincide with both the summer and winter solstices. The winter solstice show traditionally culminates in a popular and well attended New Year's Eve Show at the Yeiser Art Center, in historic downtown Paducah.

As part of the celebration of the 10th anniversary of UNESCO's designation of Paducah as a creative city, the Wastelanders will be exhibiting in the Community Gallery at the Pam Miller Downtown Arts and Entertainment Center in the heart of Lexington, Ky, at 141 East Main St. The show will run from July 14, 2023, through September 2, 2023.

As part of their commitment to the arts, Lexart has six Gallery Hops a year that showcase galleries, museums, studios, and creative spaces. The Pam Miller gallery is one of the stops on the hop. The Wastelanders are proud to be representing the Paducah art scene with this exhibit and several members will be present at the Pam Miller gallery on July 22 from noon to 1:30pm to answer questions about their work and the creative goings-on in Paducah.
